

Vince "Big Daddy" Georges has been a prominent figure in the world of nightlife and event promotion since 2011. Under the mentorship of Sonny (Hassan) Pore, CEO of HighLife Entertainment, Vince has honed his skills as a full-time nightclub promoter specializing in private events and music club parties. He's been the driving force behind massive gatherings in major cities like New York and Los Angeles, curating unforgettable experiences where hundreds of partygoers groove to the beats of old and new school music.

Vince's journey into nightclub promotion feels like a natural calling, considering his history as a fixture on the New York club scene. He's danced the night away at iconic venues like Studio 54, Bentleys, and Shadow Night Club, earning him a reputation as a true "Party-goer." This reputation, in turn, opened doors for him to provide personal security to A-list celebrities such as Jennifer Lopez, Al Pacino, Laurence Fishburne, and Marc Anthony, among others.

Vince is renowned for his commitment to safety, his team spirit, and his zest for creating unforgettable experiences. His expertise extends beyond the nightclub scene, and he's always responsive in communication with management, ensuring that the Ultimate Soul Escape presence shines brightly on social media and beyond. Vince's unwavering commitment to teamwork makes him an invaluable asset to both HighLife Entertainment and Ultimate Soul Escape.